

Department of Educational Leadership

For information, contact the Department of Educational Leadership, 306 McGuffey Hall or call 513-529-6825.

This department offers a Bachelor of Science in Education Studies. The Education Studies degree is designed for students who desire a career in education outside the classroom. Education Studies engages students in the study of social, philosophical, ethical, and cultural contexts of education by providing them with holistic, multicultural, and international frameworks of research and knowledge with which to understand schooling, youth, and families. Students in the Education Studies major will develop the abilities to analyze complex social issues related to education, conduct community research, and become engaged in addressing community challenges and policy-making related to schools, youth, families, health, wellness, and justice issues. Students must select one of three concentrations: 1). Creativity, Innovation & Learning; 2). Equity & Educational Change; and 3). Education and Social Entrepreneurship.

In addition, we offer a minor in Community-Based Leadership.

We also partner with an array of campus offices and programs to offer co-curricular courses designed to maximize the potential for student co-curricular learning: courses like EDL 100: Career Development and the College Student, EDL110: The University and the Student, and EDL 290: The Nature of Group Leadership which help students of any major develop knowledge and experience in particular areas.

We offer Master's degrees in School Leadership, Transformative Education, and Student Affairs in Higher Education (SAHE). We offer a Ph.D. degree in Educational Leadership and offer an Ed.D. in Educational Leadership as well. We offer licensure programs in the school principalship and superintendency. We collaborate with school districts and Educational Service Centers to provide graduate programs for educators which are based in problems of practice, and in district or regional goals.

Education Studies - Bachelor of Science in Education Studies

Community-Based Leadership Minor

EDL 100. Career Development for College Students. (2)

This course is designed to take students through the process of clarifying career and/or academic goals. Students will do research assignments and activities designed to help them to learn about themselves and how to apply this information to career decision making.

EDL 110. The University and the Student. (1)

Helps students understand how the university operates and how its resources can be used to develop their educational goals. Taught in seminar style; designed to help develop personal relationships among students and instructor. For freshmen only. Credit/no-credit only.

EDL 115. Miami Tribe Contemporary Issues I. (1)

Introduce and explore the major issues that the Miami Tribe of Oklahoma faces today as a sovereign Nation. These issues will be contextualized within Indian Country as a whole as well as within the broader global indigenous community. Focus is on the issues of sovereignty, self-determination, governance, leadership, economic development, and education.

EDL 151. The American University. (2)

This course is intended to acclimate and acculturate first year International students to the U.S. educational culture and in particular to the Miami University culture. Through this highly experiential course, International students begin to build intercultural competencies, including the cultural intelligence necessary to succeed in an American university, and in the broader U.S. cultural context; are introduced to resources and offices on campus to assist in transition and adjustment; develop, adjust, and use academic skills needed to understand and navigate study load, test culture, academic integrity, class participation, residence hall life, advising, classroom technology, counseling and health issues, and extracurricular activities, among others.

EDL 177. Independent Studies. (0-6)

EDL 195. Team Building Development - Facilitation & Group Dynamics. (2)

This course is an introduction to group facilitation and group management. The course will focus on building and development of community within a team of people. Students will think critically, process and debrief experiences within the community of their class. Students will explore and develop skills necessary to become a competent group leader and group member. The course will offer multiple opportunities to experience team building activities that can later be applied to one's professional life.

EDL 203. Introduction to Critical Youth Studies. (3)

An overview of Critical Youth Studies which allows class participants to explore and appreciate their identities, to develop an awareness of issues affecting different populations of youth, and to learn a variety of tools for self-expression and activism. This curriculum draws from key fields in youth studies such as Educational Studies, Cultural Studies, Ethnic Studies, Gender Studies, Sexuality Studies, Performance Studies, Literary Studies, and Art Criticism to provide students with a multidisciplinary and layered understanding of youth. EDL 203 foregrounds underrepresented voices and bodies that have been invisible and/or marginalized within the study of youth, specifically, and U.S. society, generally. The primary aims of this course are to: 1) Introduce students to the area of critical youth studies, 2) Alert students to existing programs, initiatives, and movements connected to this area of study, 3) Expose students to multidisciplinary ways of engendering self-expression as youth and working with youth. IIC. IC. PA-2A, PA-4B.

EDL 204. Sociocultural Studies in Education. (3)

Introduction to the field of social foundation of education using humanities and cultural studies approaches to investigate education in a diverse and democratic nation. IIB, IC. PA-3B, PA-4B.

EDL 215. Miami Tribe Contemporary Issues 2. (1)

In this course we will introduce and explore the major issues that the Miami Tribe of Oklahoma faces today as a sovereign Nation. These issues will be contextualized with comparisons to Indian Country as a whole as well as to broader global indigenous experiences. In this second semester of the course, we will specifically focus on the global manifestations of nationhood, sovereignty, and self-determination in classic governmental structures, like constitutions, and in locations or activities that are not normally associated with issues of political or economic sovereignty, like art. Through this exploration, we will attempt to develop a framework of comparative indigenous nationhood.

Prerequisite: EDL 115.

EDL 216. Myaamia Ecology & History 1. (1)

In this course we will introduce, explore, and weave together various perspectives of Myaamia (Miami) ecology and history. The ecological observations of this first course will be heavily influenced by the seasonal transition from summer into winter that occurs during the fall semester. From these observations, the class will create a shared understanding of the web of relationships that links humans, animals, plants, landscapes, other-than-human beings, and the stories that one particular group of humans "the Myaamiaki" have told about these interactions over time. Through an exploration of some of the general aspects of Myaamia ecology and history, each individual participant of the class will begin develop their own personalized understanding of this complex web of relationships. Half of the class meetings will be dedicated to discussing historical topics, i.e. focused on the past, but one of our explicit goals is to discuss how historical understandings and ecological practices are a part of, or can be made a part of, our contemporary lives.

EDL 218. Leadership Identity Development. (3)

This course provides students with an intentional and guided examination of their leadership identity. Over the course of the year, students will participate in leadership development and reflection activities grouped within four domains of exploration: Self, Others, Knowledge and Experiential. Students will draw from these domains to develop a personal leadership philosophy that can help guide their future leadership activities. The course activities are completed in a self-paced format and complemented by monthly seminar meetings.

EDL 222. Mindfulness Contemplative Intr. (1; maximum 5)

The course is an introduction to mindfulness and contemplative practices (movement, ritual, creative, relational, activist, generative, stillness) their global/cultural histories, readings, and reflection. Mindfulness, meditation, visualization, self-compassion, practices used in this course provide students with a mind/body approach to learning, living, and acting. This lab can be taken alone as a one-credit course.

EDL 224. Introduction to Education Policy. (3)

This course provides an introduction to educational policy in the United States. We will examine both the broader political context within which education policy is made as well as the policy making process. The course will introduce students to a range of current topics that define the current debates in education, including, but not limited to, test based accountability, equity and adequacy for special populations, and school choice. In analyzing these debates, students will use the various disciplinary perspectives to understand the complexity of current issues in American K-12 education.

EDL 232. Introduction to Community-Based Leadership. (3)

Introduction to Community-Based Leadership explores theories and practices of leadership in public institutions and communities. Through an examination of research in leadership studies, community organizing, and civic studies, students apply theoretical knowledge in collaborative projects which explore the work of community leaders and organizations working in diverse community contexts. Specific community leadership capacities developed in this course include: Critically interpreting leadership theory; working effectively and ethically in diverse organizations and groups; understanding of political, social, and cultural contexts of leadership work; and developing abilities to catalyze action to address problems. IIC. PA-2A, SI-02.

EDL 260. Undergraduate Research: Special Topics. (1; maximum 4)

Using the discovery learning model and inquiry-based learning, this course is designed to push students beyond their desire to gain information from external authorities. This course will be offered to students who are engaged in undergraduate research. This is a special topics course that may include experience and discuss library research techniques; research ethics and human subjects; organizational strategies for college researchers; literature reviews, research annotations and abstracts; leadership and communication skills; quantitative and qualitative research techniques; statistical software; research careers and professional development; learning plans, personal mission statements and goal setting; proposal writing and poster development and presentation.

EDL 277. Independent Studies. (0-6)EDL 281. Outdoor Leadership Study Away/Study Abroad. (3)

This course examines the role of an outdoor leader through study and work at off-campus sites. Students explore theoretical and practical implications of this type of leadership in a study-away context. Pre-trip preparation will include learning about group dynamics, trip planning models, expedition behavior, risk management, and environmental stewardship in the context of outdoor leadership. The course will include a variety of location-based outdoor adventure activities and experiences to enable students to put theory to practice in an outdoor setting. EL.

EDL 290. The Nature of Group Leadership. (2; maximum 6)

A two-credit course for students interested in exploring multiple approaches to leadership and building capacity for socially responsible leadership. The course involves engaged learning through community action work, skill building, reading, writing, case analysis, and dialogue.

EDL 301. Student Development in Residence Halls. (1)

Practical study of theories and techniques used in creating and maintaining learning environments that foster student growth and development in college residence halls. Includes student development theories, community development techniques, personal and environmental assessment, and strategies for influencing group living and behavior.

Prerequisite: current resident assistant or permission of instructor.

EDL 302. Career Entry Skills and Post-College Planning. (2)

Designed to assist students in making the transition from college to the world-of-work, service, self-employment, and/or graduate or professional school. Gain awareness of self and how skills, interests, and values impact career satisfaction and success, clarify career options and/or post-college opportunities, develop necessary job search correspondence and interview techniques and prepare for the transition from student life to professional life.

EDL 310. College Student Development and Group Process for Peer Educators. (1)

An interactive course providing a theoretical and applied examination of college student development and group process as they relate to peer education. Major content areas include: models of college student development, communication and helping skills, workshop design, and multicultural considerations in programming.

EDL 312. Foundations of Education in Global Contexts. (3)

This class focuses on the theoretical foundations of education in global contexts, as well as issues influencing the field. Topics include: globalization; education reforms, political, cultural, and religious influences, centralization and decentralization policies, colonialism and its legacies, and access to education among others. The goal of this class is to uncover why education is the way it is in other contexts, determine the limitations of understanding other contexts, and evaluate the extent to which elements of education are transferable between contexts. IIB, PA-4C.

Cross-listed with TCE 312.

EDL 315. Disability History in America. (3)

An introduction to the history of disabilities in America, providing an overview of major themes, events, individuals, policy developments and political and social activism of, by, and for people with disabilities, as well as an introduction to the historical subfield of history of disabilities. IIB, IC, PA-4A.

Cross-listed with DST 315.

EDL 316. Myaamia Ecology & History 2. (1)

In this course we will continue to weave together the various perspectives of Myaamia (Miami) ecology and history, which were introduced in the first semester. The ecological observations of the second course will be heavily influenced by the seasonal transition from winter into summer that occurs during the spring semester. From these observations, the class will create a shared understanding of the web of relationships that links humans, animals, plants, landscapes, other-than-human beings, and the stories that one particular group of humans "the Myaamiaki" have told about these interactions over time. Through an exploration of some of the general aspects of Myaamia ecology and history, each individual participant of the class will begin develop their own personalized understanding of this complex web of relationships. Half of the class meetings will be dedicated to discussing historical topics, i.e. focused on the past, but one of our explicit goals is to discuss how historical understandings and ecological practices are a part of, or can be made a part of, our contemporary lives. The second semester of this course will more explicitly focus on traditional stories and historical narratives. These oral and textual sources will be used to contextualize the ecological knowledge that students began developing in the first semester of the course.

EDL 317. Myaamiaatawenki: Myaamia Language & Culture 1. (1)

This course is the first of a two-course series that introduces the Myaamia language and culture. The goal of this class is to expose students to Myaamia language and culture and create thoughtful discussions about why maintaining the Myaamia heritage language and culture is important. This course will build off of the experiences, knowledge, and skills acquired in EDL 316 by adding greater linguistic and cultural complexities to students' knowledge of contemporary issues and historical and ecological contexts. The course will advance each student's use of the Myaamia language towards a more functional level. Students will be exposed to more immersive language environments and will demonstrate an ability to express simple wants and needs in the Myaamia language.

Prerequisite: EDL 316.

EDL 318A. Teacher Leadership and School Organization. (3)

This course is designed to challenge and shape students' conceptions of educational organizations and cultures; their professional development as teachers and/or educational staff members; as well as the acts of teaching, curriculum development, teaming and leadership. The course encourages the development of personal and professional theoretical frameworks and practical tools for enhancing awareness of and action in educational roles as decision-maker, curriculum-creator, inquirer, community member/builder, democratic citizen, team member, teacher and leader.

EDL 318E. Teacher Leadership and School Organization. (3)

This course is designed to challenge and shape students' conceptions of educational organizations and cultures; their professional development as teachers and/or educational staff members; as well as the acts of teaching, curriculum development, teaming and leadership. The course encourages the development of personal and professional theoretical frameworks and practical tools for enhancing awareness of and action in educational roles as decision-maker, curriculum-creator, inquirer, community member/builder, democratic citizen, team member, teacher and leader.

EDL 318M. Teacher Leadership and School Organization. (3)

This course is designed to challenge and shape students' conceptions of educational organizations and cultures; their professional development as teachers and/or educational staff members; as well as the acts of teaching, curriculum development, teaming and leadership. The course encourages the development of personal and professional theoretical frameworks and practical tools for enhancing awareness of and action in educational roles as decision-maker, curriculum-creator, inquirer, community member/builder, democratic citizen, team member, teacher and leader.

EDL 333. Youth, Media & Pop Culture. (3)

This course offers a critical analysis of role of media and pop culture in the lives youth. Students will examine how youth interact with and influence diverse forms of media. Course content will explore how cultural products such as media and pop culture shape societal views of youth and inform how youth view themselves. EL.

EDL 334. Transnational Youth Cultures. (3)

Using contemporary social and educational theory, this course introduces the student to the historical construction of adolescence and youth in global context. The course also explores cultural practices of transnational youths as a socio-historical construction that is affected by contemporary conditions of neo-liberalism, neo-colonialism and globalization. IIB, IC, PA-4B, PA-4C.

Cross-listed with AAA.

EDL 340. Internship. (0-20)EDL 351. Leadership Ethics in Community Contexts. (3)

An applied ethics course for students pursuing leadership studies or roles within community, non-profit, or educational contexts. Students will learn about moral theories relevant to leadership work, apply theory to practice through case analysis, and engage in reflection to deepen moral perception and commitments for leadership work. IIB. PA-3B.

EDL 369. Sexuality, Youth, Education. (3)

This interdisciplinary course utilizes insights from a variety of areas - such as literature, sociology, popular culture, law, and medicine - to analyze how contemporary discourses of sexuality are viewed from multiple perspectives. The course investigates how discourses of sexuality co-mingle with discourses of youth with special attention to the intersections of race, ethnicity, class, gender, nationality and ability. Working from a Critical Youth Studies (CYS) framework and similar theoretical positions, the course privileges scholarship and community-based educational models which foreground issues of equity, social justice, and youth participatory activism. Central questions addressed throughout the course include: What is sexuality, and what does race have to do with it? How are notions of innocence, purity, risk and danger tied to particular bodies, identities and desires? How do the logics, structures and processes of late capitalism and globalization shape the cultural politics of sexuality?.

EDL 377. Independent Studies. (0-6)EDL 382. Community-Based Research & Learning in Education. (3)

This course introduces students to community-based approaches to research, learning, and development with an emphasis on education issues. Working with local non-profits, schools, and community organizations students will use community-based participatory research (CBPR) as a research paradigm to explore and address a range of education issues at the community level. This course will familiarize participants with key principles of CBPR practice; community assessment; issue analysis; research planning; data gathering; and data sharing. The course will also develop student capacities in cultural competence; working with diverse populations; and ethical considerations in community-based work.

EDL 383. Service in Urban Communities. (1-6; maximum 6)

The purpose of this course is to afford students the opportunity to implement or be involved in a service project in or with a local urban community that will run over the duration of the semester. The course provides students the opportunity to further develop themselves as servant-leaders who are culturally proficient, critically aware of the race and class dynamics that shape life in urban communities, and thoughtful about how best to respond to challenges that hinder community wellbeing.

EDL 416. Myaamiaataweenki: Myaamia Language & Culture 2. (1)

This course is the second of a two-course series that introduces the Myaamia language and culture. The goal of this class is to expose students to intermediate concepts in the Myaamia language and culture and to develop thoughtful representations of the use of the Myaamia language and culture. This course will build off of the knowledge students gained in EDL 317 by adding greater linguistic and cultural complexities to students' knowledge of contemporary issues, historical contexts, and ecological changes. In this course, students will continue to practice the functional language skills developed in EDL 317. By the end of the course, students will have developed an ability to recount and understand short narrative speech in the Myaamia language.

Prerequisite: EDL 317.

EDL 464. Community-Based Leadership and Change. (3)

This course provides students with an opportunity to synthesize what they have learned about community-based leadership through their coursework in the CBL minor and demonstrate mastery of primary leadership competencies, concepts, principles and practices. Students will be guided in designing and developing a substantial research project that incorporates significant learning from their program. This course challenges each student to choose an aspect of community to impact, and to create and begin implementing an actual community engagement strategy. Readings and discussions focus on effective tools and strategies for creating lasting change, including the leader's role as a catalyst and convener.

Prerequisite: EDL 232.

EDL 477. Independent Studies. (0-6)EDL 600. Independent Reading. (1-3; maximum 9)

Planned reading in a field of educational leadership with guidance of a department member.

Prerequisite: graduate standing and permission of department chair.

EDL 601. Educational Leadership Theory. (3)

Study of theory and practice of educational leadership. Instructional strategies include case study, simulations, and tutorials. Integrates theory with issues of field-based practice. First in a series of four required courses.

Prerequisite: graduate standing and permission of instructor.

EDL 606. Curriculum Innovation and Transformation through Understanding and Design. (3)

This course is designed for educators interested in learning more about the curriculum in use in classrooms, schools, and community organizations, and the possibilities for shaping and transforming curriculum and teaching practices. The course will introduce students to important issues in curriculum theory and practice.

Cross-listed with TCE 606.

EDL 607. School Law. (3)

General study of public education law with particular emphasis on school law in Ohio. Major attention given to landmark cases and their effects upon public education.

EDL 609. Politics In Education. (3)

Provides broad understanding of the politics of school governance and management, including the analysis and ethics of educational policy at the local, state, and federal levels.

EDL 611. Theories of Leadership. (3)

This course introduces students to the methods, theories and perspectives of educational leadership; including explorations of activism, advocacy and organizing. The course emphasizes critical introspection of personal leadership efforts and provides opportunities to develop leadership practices that prioritize equity, collaboration and community engagement while navigating policy and/or organizational landscapes.

EDL 614. Family-Community-School Partnerships. (3)

Analysis of school-linked and community-based partnerships aimed at enhancing the well-being of children, youth, families and schools. Family-centered, culturally-responsive practice principles and empowerment strategies are emphasized. Cross-listed with FSW.

EDL 615. Communities, Power, and Change. (3)

This course prepares students working on education related issues to engage diverse families and communities in strengths-based, collaborative methods that promote equitable learning opportunities. In particular, the course seeks to empower students to develop critical reflective skills in order to better meet the needs of families marginalized by school-sanctioned parent involvement initiatives. Students will develop working understandings of these concepts and the dynamics of power structures as they prepare to work with and alongside students, families, and communities in anti-racist, culturally sustaining, and community-oriented ways.

EDL 619. Educational Policies & Teachers. (3)

This course is designed to familiarize early career teachers with educational policies that impact their schools and everyday classroom practices. Through this course they will develop a critical lens to analyze and reframe policies that lead to or exacerbate deficit thinking about students and their families. Teachers in this course will also examine how their own positionality interplays with their use of policies that lead to inequity and injustice. Through policy analysis and personal examination, teachers will go back into their classrooms with the ability to view educational policy and implementation through a critical lens.

EDL 621. Foundations of Multi-Cultural Education. (3)

Using interdisciplinary approach, course investigates what multicultural education is and why and how it has become an integral part of public school education.

EDL 622. Foundations of Multicultural Education. (3)

This course introduces students to the field of social foundations of education and critical approaches to multicultural education. Drawing on critical, anti-racist, and culturally sustaining frameworks, this interdisciplinary course investigates multicultural education in historical, sociocultural, philosophical and global contexts. Issues of power, privilege and oppression are centered in understanding the role of education for building democratic societies based on diversity, equity, inclusion and social justice.

EDL 624. Ethics and Values in Education. (3)

An applied philosophy course focusing on the study and use of ethical frameworks for educational practice and decision-making for educators working in K-16 contexts. Theories and applications of moral education are also examined.

EDL 627. Curriculum Theorizing for Innovation and Transformation. (3)

This course positions students to explore important issues in curriculum theory and practice. It is designed for educators, both inside and outside of schools, who are interested in shaping and transforming curriculum to center anti-racist, culturally-sustaining, and community-oriented pedagogies.

Cross-listed with TCE 627.

EDL 629. History of Education in America. (3)

Origin and development of educational thought and institutions in the United States.

Prerequisite: graduate standing or permission of instructor.

EDL 630. Applied Studies in Educational Administration. (1-3; maximum 15)

Practicum focusing on contemporary administrative and organizational issues in schools, including data analysis, effective professional communication, and special education policies and procedures.

Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

EDL 638. Identity, Community, & Activism. (3)

The course extends the deep learning about community based leadership with a focus on identity formation, cultural expression and citizenship, and socio-political representation, towards the goals of personal and collective empowerment. The main goal of the course is to prepare students to work with/in cultural, arts, digital-media, and community-based projects.

EDL 640. Internship. (0-12; maximum 6)EDL 645. Supervision of Teaching. (3)

Principles, methods, techniques, and problems of leadership in improving programs in elementary and secondary schools.

Prerequisite: graduate standing; elementary, middle, or secondary curriculum course; or permission of instructor.

EDL 646. Curriculum Development for Instruction. (3)

Curriculum organization procedures, evaluation and theory in preparation of educational leaders. A course blending theory and field experiences.

EDL 647. Curriculum and Cultural Studies. (3)

Students will be exposed to cultural studies' perspectives of education, including critical media literacy and the role of popular culture in American education.

Prerequisite: EDL 639.

EDL 648. Data-Informed Decision Making in Education. (3)

Students in this class learn contemporary educational research methods and develop skills to plan and complete a systematic action research inquiry into educational practice. The class introduces students to research design, review of relevant literature, implementation, and evaluation.

Cross-listed with TCE.

EDL 654. Foundations of Educational Research in Higher Education. (3)

Introduction to the diverse theoretical foundations of educational inquiry and exploration of the diverse approaches used in empirical educational research to enhance practice in student affairs/higher education contexts.

Prerequisite: enrolled in SAHE or permission of instructor.

EDL 656. Professional Development and Field Experience in Student Affairs. (1-4)

Supervised practice in student affairs and higher education contexts. Prerequisite: enrolled in SAHE or permission of instructor.

EDL 656G. Field Experience Exploration. (4)

Supervised practice in student affairs and higher education contexts. Prerequisite: enrolled in SAHE or permission of instructor.

EDL 656I. Field Experience Synthesis. (3)

Supervised practice in student affairs and higher education contexts. Prerequisite: enrolled in SAHE or permission of instructor.

EDL 657. Internships in Student Affairs. (1-7; maximum 7)

Graduate students participating in a Student Affairs in Higher Education (SAHE) internship register for this course during the semester they are on work assignment. Prerequisite: EDL 676.

EDL 660. Seminar in Student Affairs/Higher Education. (1-3)

Focuses on specialized topics in student affairs in higher education. Prerequisite: enrolled in SAHE or permission of instructor.

EDL 661. Quantitative Research in Higher Education. (3)

Introduction to quantitative research in student affairs/higher education. Explores implications for disciplined inquiry in higher education (e.g., research, assessment, and evaluation). Prerequisites: EDL 654 and SAHE major or permission of instructor.

EDL 667. Diversity, Equity, and Dialogue in Student Affairs. (3)

Critically examines issues in higher education access and equity with special attention on race and social class. As a way to learn to have conversations about diversity, this course introduces students to Intergroup Dialogue, a facilitated strategy for engaging in dialogue across difference. Prerequisite: enrollment in SAHE program or permission of instructor.

EDL 672. Intergroup Dialogue in Higher Education. (3)

Provides students an opportunity to engage in Intergroup Dialogue, a facilitated approach to engaging in dialogue across identities, such as race, sexual orientation, social class, gender, and religion. Explores notions of privilege, oppression, and development as a social justice ally in education contexts. Prerequisite: EDL 667 or permission of the instructor.

EDL 675. Student Development Theory I. (3)

Study of basic theoretical perspectives underlying college student development, assessment of development, and application of theory to student affairs practice. S. or Ph.D. in SAHE or permission of instructor. Prerequisite: enrolled in M.

EDL 676. Foundations of Student Affairs in Higher Education. (3)

Focuses on the historical, philosophical and theoretical foundations of student affairs. Prerequisite: enrolled in SAHE or permission of instructor.

EDL 677. Independent Studies. (0-6)EDL 678. Student Development Theory II. (3)

In-depth study and critique of selected student and adult development theories, assessment of students' development of those theories, and application to student affairs practice. Prerequisites: EDL 677 and enrolled in SAHE or permission of instructor.

EDL 683. Qualitative Research in Education. (3)

Introduction to the field of qualitative research in K-16 educational environments, including multiple interpretivist and critical traditions. Prerequisites: EDL 654 and SAHE major or permission of instructor.

EDL 685. Spirituality and Leadership in Education. (3)

This course examines key literature and pertinent issues related to spirituality and educational leadership such as character development, servant and ethical-moral leadership, and culturally relevant faith traditions across multiple higher education contexts. These issues, among others, are closely linked to values-based personal development and are critical elements in learning about and promoting holistic leadership development. We will examine literature in this growing field of study, discuss the affect and significance of various key concepts, and mutually construct ways to connect theory to practice. Prerequisite: enrollment in SAHE program or permission of instructor.

EDL 687. Community-Based Leadership & Action I. (3)

In this course students will learn about navigating shifting political landscapes and strategies for engaging with diverse stakeholders and communities. This course will include discussions of inter and intra group power dynamics, networking and collaboration, and various models for authentic partnership development to accomplish desired objectives.

EDL 688. Community-Based Leadership & Action II. (3)

In this course students will apply diverse theoretical frameworks related to community engagement to current professional contexts and acquire practical skills that can be utilized to achieve organizational and community objectives.

EDL 691. Graduate Capstone Experience in Education. (3)

This course provides the opportunity for students to synthesize their course work and experiences from throughout the program with an individualized research project that demonstrates critical thinking, understanding contexts, and reflection into action. The end product could include a research paper, journal manuscript, grant proposal, or strategic plan.

Cross-listed with TCE 691.

EDL 696. Student Success in Higher Education. (3)

Less than 60% of college students earn a bachelor's degree within six years in the United States. Creating and sustaining conditions that foster student success is essential to increasing access, persistence, and graduation rates in higher education. Despite the increased representation of first-generation, low-income, and racial/ethnic minority college students, these populations continue to be underrepresented and underserved at U.S. colleges and universities. This course will explore different theoretical perspectives to advance research, policies, and programs that increase student success in higher education.

Prerequisites: based on their concentration, students will need to take on the following courses: EDL 654, EDL 667, EDL 677 or EDL 706.

EDL 697. Higher Education Administration. (3)

This course will introduce students to topics and issues that commonly occur within higher education and on college and university campuses. Students will explore higher education within the U.S. socio-economic and political contexts at the national, state, institutional, departmental, and/or programmatic levels. Key topics include: student success, legal issues, finance, and crisis management and response.

EDL 706. Educational Leadership and Organizational Development. (3)

Study of concepts, literature, and research in leadership and its relationship to the development and maintenance of the organization.

Prerequisite: EDL graduate program admission or permission of the instructor.

EDL 710. Internship in Educational Leadership. (3; maximum 6)

Planned program of leadership responsibilities in an educational institution or agency with major emphasis on participation in practical applications of roles associated with school administration. Enrollment only after contact with the internship director.

EDL 721. Pupil Personnel Services. (1-3; maximum 3)

Organization and analysis of pupil services offered to a school district. Current issues, especially legal and ethical, are examined.

EDL 723. Public School Finance. (3)

Local, state, and federal systems of financial support for education. Addresses basic revenue and allocation issues from a national and an Ohio perspective.

EDL 725. School Staff Personnel Administration. (1-3)

Basic course in school personnel sequence; emphasis on licensed staff; recruitment, supervision, evaluation, staff development, collective bargaining, and employer-employee relationships.

EDL 727. School Business Affairs and Physical Resources. (3)

Basic principles and procedures of business management as they relate to educational institutions and agencies, including budgeting, purchasing, maintenance, management of school facilities, educational specifications, enrollment projections, capacity and utilization, and auxiliary services.
